

Environmental Pollution and Breast Cancer

A presentation & discussion at the Friendship Café

Presentation by: Dr. Julia Brody, Silent Spring Institute

Part of the monthly Science Café series
Hosted by: The Environmental Justice League of Rhode Island, the Brown University Superfund
Research Program, & the Brown University
Children's Environmental Health Center

What: A dynamic presentation and discussion about the science linking environmental pollutants and breast cancer. Dr. Julia Brody, executive director of Silent Spring Institute, is a leader in research on breast cancer and the environment and public engagement in science. The event is free and drinks and snacks will be provided.

When: Wednesday, March 30th, 6-7 pm

Where: The Friendship Café, 500 Broad Street 8B, Providence, RI

